DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 – 2 are pending for examination.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because it contains an embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code [page 4 lines 13 or paragraph 0012]. Applicant is required to delete the embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code. See MPEP § 608.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1 – 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor, US patent no. 6,256,676 in view of Vijaykumar, US patent no. 5,745,896.
5. Taylor and Vijaykumar references were cited in the last office action.

6. As to claim 1, Taylor teaches a system for synchronizing data between applications (applications, col. 10 lines 40 – 60) having respective applicant data stores (application resources, col. 13 lines 1 – 5 and fig. 2), the system comprising the steps of:

two or more application service adapters (a plurality of adapters, each of which respectively one of the plurality of enterprise applications, abstract and col. 11 lines 40 – 50 and fig. 2) associated with the application data stores;

an integration engine (engine, col. 11 lines 40 – 50) having associated therewith an integration engine service adapter (ADK 130, col. 11 lines 40 – 65) and an integration engine data store (database storage, col. 8 lines 5 – 20) the integration engine manages the flow of information among all the data stores (pass messages between the computer applications which are associated with applicant resources, col. 8 lines 5 – 20 col. 10 lines 40 – 50 and col. 12 lines 25 – 30). Taylor teaches RDBMS comprising many databases (col. 11 lines 30 – 40 and fig. 2).

However, Taylor does not explicitly teach a links table for managing shared integration data.

Vigaykumar teaches RDBMS which has a link table for managing shared intergration data (table containing link relationship, col. 14 lines 11 – 52).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Taylor and Vigaykumar's system because Vigaykumar's linking table would be necessary for the RDBMS to maintain the referential integrity of the update or delete rules and enhance the third normalization.

7. As to claim 2, it is the method claim of claim 1. See rejection for claim 1 above.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 4/18/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

9. Applicants argued in substance that

(1). Vijaykumar fails to cure deficiencies of Taylor, and it is different from the applicant's invention as defined in amended claims providing a stand-alone applications, and concept of a global unique ID.

10. Examiner respectfully disagreed with applicant's remark

As to point 1, Applicant fails to point out how Vijaykumar fails to cure deficiencies of Taylor. Taylor teaches a RDBMS system that requires the link tables, and Vijaykumar teaches RDBMS comprising link tables. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Taylor and Vijaykumar's system because Vijaykumar's link tables would enable the

Art Unit: 2194

RDBMS to maintain the referential integrity of the update or delete rules and enhance the third normalization. Applicant does not see anywhere in the either original or amended claims claimed stand-alone applications, and concept of a global unique ID.

Conclusion

11. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

12. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Phuong N. Hoang whose telephone number is (571)272-3763. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday 9:00 am to 5:30 pm.
